OPERATION AND JANITORIAL SERVICES

A strong janitorial program is key to the health of any operation, which is why we provide our clients with custom janitorial contract services that meet their specific operational needs. Our experts start by examining the facility's cleaning requirements, evaluate the frequency of cleaning, and make recommendations regarding cleaning devices, chemicals, and protocols. The team then performs regular cleaning, other disinfecting services, and maintenance to reduce the spread of viruses and keep clients and employees safe.

DISINFECTING & SANITIZING SERVICES

With the outbreak of the Coronavirus (COVID-19), people are becoming more aware of the importance that sanitization plays in helping prevent the spread of the virus and ensuring we stay healthy. As we pay more attention to who we meet and what we touch, it's also imperative to understand the importance of disinfection in our homes and offices.

Every time we touch something when we're out getting essentials such as food or medical supplies, we pick up germs left by others. Since people who contract the virus may not show any symptoms for days, they could be unintentionally spreading the virus to every surface they touch and place they visit.

Once we touch a contaminated surface, those germs we pick up then get transferred to our house, putting us and our families at risk of contracting COVID-19. Professional sanitizing and disinfection services is the most effective way to quickly disinfect our home or office and ensure a safe environment for our family members and employees.

PEST CONTROL SERVICES

There are many pest control companies out there. However, Sprinkles For Operation And Maintenance Services is different than most of them because we offer more than just safe and effective solutions to your common household pests. TERMITE CONTROL SERVICES

Sprinkles For Operation And Maintenance Services recognized the need to have a termite control in the region. Since the region is situated in an area where termites are more likely to survive and do damage to properties. These are called subterranean termites, the most common kind in the Middle East countries, by far the most destructive of all wood damaging insects and the major threat to a property invested for years, thus it is referred as economic pest.

Termites' continued existence depends on the food source and to be near a constant source of moisture. They burrow out from their colony in the soil, the most common openings are cracks from the floor and wall in search of food and moisture. Any wooden materials present in your area will be easily digested one way or the other, it will lead to sagging floors, loose structure, cracked plaster, damaged doors, window frames, furniture and even decoration paper, and these will cost you more.
